OVER 300 SOLD IN THIS COUNTY. The Attention of Farmers is Called to this Rake,

Which is considered the most simple and durable, besides the CHEAPEST AND REST in the country. It has been TROMOURLY TESTED by the most practical farmers, and has in every case given perfect satisfies Complete in Construction, No Labor is Required While Rakiny. The teeth of the LOCE-LEVER RARE are made of Refined Cast Steel, made expressly for this purpose. Tempered in oil; each tooth tested at the factory, and in passing over uneven surface. Readily Adjust Themselves to Their Places.

Cast Steel Spring Coils, made with the body of the tooth, as these are made, have been found by use in the field, much stronger and more durable than the small separate wire-coil springs often used in some takes. The rake can be instantly regulated for any kind of ground by lowering or elevating the teeth, which is done by moving the lever forecard on like post on the front cross-bar. As the tilting of the rake is done by the driver's weight, only the slightest effort of the hand is required to raise and lower the lever discharging the hay. The lever being down, the rake is hald firm to its place Without Using the Hands or Feet.

The Lock-Lever Hay and Grain Rake is Well Known

Throughout the Eastern and Western States, and is acknowledged to be superior to all others. Those wisting to buy a Hay and Grain Rake will find it to their interest to examine the LOCK-LEVER. With it the farmer can rake his grain stubble fields as well as his meadows.

THE JOURNAL.

THE DIFFERENCE. You rustle richly through my door, With dainty eyes that scarce can brook To note the coarseness on my floor,

The rudeness of my sheltering nook. A silken thought, a dream in lace, A studied beauty in each fold. Ahl gold has won you all this grace; Would grace be mine had I but gold?

You lightly dance life's paths along, I plod with sore and weary feet; Your palace home is gay with song, When silence shrouds my small retreat You walk in terraced gardens fair.

I, to my quiet nook repair, And gather daisies on the green Your way is by the gilded founts Where art and science hold their sway, Mine where the persant toils, and counts

With stately trend and royal mien,

His life as but a harvest day. You trend the halls where nations meet, Where gold and silver, both clasp hands; I tread, with quick, impatient feet, The daily round duty commands.

Yet shall some mild, sure-swelling surge Break over over both, or soon or late, Then shall our ways at last converge, To wind beyond the same still gate. Your jeweled hands, in that last hour,

Close folded 'round a withering flower-Just as are mine upon my breast. The same low grass shall greenly spring Above us, nursed by storm and dow; And little birds shall come and sing

Shall fissh no more, but, pulseless, rest

The same aweet songs for me, as you. Your sod may boast a grander art, In chisled marble, towering high; Mine guarded only by a heart.

What shall we care then, You and I?

Promissory Notes.-An exchange has the following:

A man drew a note promising to pay maker was liable for its face, because through negligence he did not draw a line between the written word "hundred" and the printed word "dollars." Any testimony that the drawer might offer to establish the fact that he gave a note for only one hundred dollars must go for nothing, as "there was nothing on the face of the note showing it had been altered." Evi-dence of an alteration on the face of the note would have changed the case. Last this bear would have changed the case. Let this be s warning to all drawers of promissory notes No one can be too careful in such matters.

Loss of Bees. A correspondent of the Geanga Republican writing from Thompson, has the following about bees:

"Every man who is a keeper of bees in this and adjoining townships, so far as I have been informed, has lost the entire stock, be they few or many. Mr. Albert Brigham, of Trumbull, lost about forty hives. Mr. Howe, or this place, has lost fitty hives. I could enumerate the loss of over five handred hives or bees that have come under my observation, ranging from three to fifty hives, owned by different individuals, in three townships. I have not ascertained how extensive the loss of bees is but if at spreads over the entire Northern States the loss will be serously felt, and a great demand for honey, this fail, will be the result, as it is one of our best luxures. The bout bees: great demand for honey, this fall, will be the result, as it is one of our best luxuries. The destruction appears to be an epitlemic, as, in most cases, a good supply of honey was in the hives, and bees are not easily frozen to death; in fact, most of them died since the severe cold weather was over. At all events, it opens a field for naturalists to work upon and investigate, and I hope they may be able to deter-mine the cause. I do not know as there is any particular name given for discuss of bees, but it they were human I should call it dysentery tha has caused so much destruction to them.

Cut This Out .- The Technologist has this o say of the virtues of Ammonia. Housekeepers will do well to make a note of it: Ammonia, or as it is more generally called, spirits of hartshorn, is a powerful alkali, and dissolves grease and dirt with great ease. It has been lately recommended very highly for many domestic purposes. For washing paint, put a table spoonful in a quart of moderately not water, dip in a fiannel cloth, and with this simply wipe off the woodwork; no scrubbing will be necessary. For taking grease spots from any fabric use ammonia nearly pure, then lay white blotting-paper over the spot and iron it lightly. In weathing laces, put about twelve drops in a pint of warm sads. To clean silver, mix two teaspoonfuls of ammonia in a quart of soapsuds. Put in your silverware and wash it using an old nail-brush or toothbrush for the purpose. For cleaning or toothbrush for the purpose. For cleaning hairbrushes, etc., simply shake the brushes up and down in a mixture of one teaspoonful of ammonia to one pint of hot water; when they are cleansed, rinse them in cold water and stand them in the wind or in a hot place to dry. For washing finery water for lock. and stand them in the wind or in a hot place to dry. For washing finger-marks from looking-glasses and windows, put a few drops of ammonia on a moist rag, and make quick work of it. If you wish your house plants to flourish, put a few drops of the spirits in every pint of water used in watering. A teaspoonful will add much to the refreshing effects of a bath. Nothing is better than ammonia water for cleansing the hair. In every case rinse off the ammonia with clear water. To which we would add, that for removing gresse spots, a mixture of equal parts of amgrease spots, a mixture of equal parts of ammonia and alcohol is better than alcohol alone; and for taking out the red stains produced by rong acids in blue and black cloths there is othing better than ammonia,

How We Used to be Physicked. Who does not remember the time when spring purgation was considered indispensable to sum mer health? No matter for wry faces, the inevitable salts and sonna, rhubarb, or calomel and jalap, Respectfully announces to his old customers and the public generally must be administered. These "spring medicines the youngsters were told, were to keep them hale and hearty during the summer. We all know now that this was a fallacy; that now rigor, not depletion, is what is required at the commence ment of the summer solatice. As a preparation for the enervating effects of oppressive summer weather, a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is highly expedient. This famous vegetable preparation has three pruminent properties: It renovates, purises, and regulates all the functions of the body. It is composed exclusively of pure vegetable productions, viz. The essecutial principle of Monorgabels Rye, and the most efficacious tonic and alternative roots, barks, and gums known to medical botanists. Hisner, it is an absolutely safe medicine, and no tincture of the Pharmscopois can compare with it either in purity, or in the variety of its objects, and its comprehensive results. Happing for mankind, the theory that it was uncessary to prostrate a patient in order to cure bit. In forever, we exploded, and the true philisophical devirting, the face of the proper medicine, has taken its place. Hostetar's bitters are in ministers of the proper medicine, as the hoods at this most taying season of the year.
